Emmet Ready for Opening of Arkla Village

FRONTIER-STYLE DRESS is suggested as the order of the day for those attending the official dedication of Arkla Village at Emmet next Saturday. Young boys 10 years of age or less are urged to tote their shootin' irons for the "fast-draw" contest. And if Mom or Dad has a hankering to come "cakin'" to illustrate one appropriate form of get-up for the ladies. The public is invited to the gala opening-day celebration.

Final Plans Made for Arkla Village 'Fast Draw' Contest at Grand Opening Saturday

Young Hempstead and Nevada County "gun slingers" began greasing up their holsters and cleaning their weapons today in preparation for the "fast draw" contest to be held during the dedication of Arkla Village at Emmet on Saturday. A committee of officials of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. and Arkla Industries, operators of the unique new frontier tourist attraction and manufacturing center, met in Hope yesterday to draw up final plans for the fast-draw competition and other events scheduled for the gala opening celebration.

Ben Harding, Arkla Village manager and head of arrangements for the dedication, said that the fast-draw contest will be for children 10 years of age or less.

Each contestant will draw his toy six-gun from the holster, click the trigger, twirl the gun around one time and return it to the holster. Prizes of silver dollars will go to the winners, who will be determined either with a stop watch or by visual inspection by the contest judges.

The contest will be held as part of the arena show Saturday afternoon following the formal dedication ceremony at "High Noon."

Harding also announced that Red Goodner and his six-piece country music string band of Hope, would play at the opening day celebration. The Hope and Prescott High School Bands will play at the "grand entry" for the arena show and at other times during the festivities, which also will include horseshoe riding - demonstrations by the Texarkana Quadrille and two groups from Little Rock and a performance by Vance Jernigan and his "educated ponies," from Malvern.

Harding emphasized a previous invitation by Arkla for dedication goers to wear "frontier get-up" and come by buggy or horseback. Sandwiches, box lunches and other refreshments will be sold on the grounds, with the Emmet Parent-Teachers Assn. operating an ice cream and soft drink concession. A final announcement on the dedication speaker and other prominent officials and other details will be made tomorrow, he added.

Road Projects Will Amount to $3 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Bids will be opened Nov. 4 by the Arkansas Highway Commission on three million dollars worth of road and bridge projects.

Seven of the eight projects call for federal aid. Signing of contracts and issuance of work orders will be subject to the availability of federal aid funds.

A new one-cent per gallon federal gasoline tax increase provides money for the interstate highway program. But Arkansas Highway Department officials said yesterday the state will have to proceed slowly in contracting for jobs to allow time for the federal fund to build up.

One of the eight projects is the south approach for the third bridge across the Arkansas River at Little Rock.

Other jobs in the package, by counties:

Hot Spring and Garland: Surfacing about 12 miles of Highway 171 from Highway 84 west. Also construction of a bridge.

Loneoke: Construction of two bridges and approaches on Highway 232.

Conway and Perry: Grading, construction of drainage structures and gravel base for about three miles on Highway 113. Also construction of a 196-foot bridge.

Paulkner: Grading and a crush-stone base for a road from U.S. Highway 65 east to the Arkansas Children's Colony.

Bonnie: Surfacing about nine miles of Highway 43 from the Newton County line northeast to Harrison.

Mississippi: Surfacing .03 mile of Highway 136 and construction of a bridge.

Van Buren and Cleburne: Surfacing 10 miles of Highway 124.

Benefit Supper Will Help Out Football Boys

Part of the proceeds from the Kiwanis - sponsored Panecake Supper to be held at the high school cafeteria the night of Oct. 23 will be used to purchase a "whirlpool bath" for the Hope High School football team.

Another portion will go to the high school band to help defray expenses of the band trip to New Orleans in the near future.

A total of 1,500 tickets have been printed and may be purchased from any Kiwanian for the sum of 35 cents for children and 75 cents for adults.

About 150 tickets have been mailed to the Kiwanis Club at Magnolia and are being sold there to students and football fans who will follow the Magnolia team to Hope the night of Oct. 23 where the Panthers and Bobcats tangle in Hammons Stadium following the benefit supper.

Free Show at Saenger for Older Citizens

The Senior Citizens Group will meet at the Saenger Theatre tomorrow, Thursday at 3 p.m. to view a free picture show and put the final touches on plans and organizational problems.

Officers of the Older Citizens organization elected at the last meeting are J. J. Honeycutt, president; E. N. Rucker, vice president and Mrs. Paul Cobb, secretary.

All persons interested in joining the group are requested to come to the meeting and free show. The show is being made possible by the cooperative efforts of Henry Scamans, manager of the Saenger and the Hope Kiwanis Club.

Other civic groups along with the Hope office of the Employment Security Division are cooperating in establishing and organizing the Senior Citizens in line with the Governor's Commission for the Aging.

Today's Edition Marks 60th Anniversary of Hope Star

This is the 60th birthday of Hope Star. On October 14, 1899, the late Claude McCorkle, father of Ed McCorkle, brought out the first issue of the weekly Star of Hope, the city's oldest newspaper to run continuously under its own name.

There was an older but not continuous line of newspapers starting with the Hope Gazette, and coming out of the same weekly plant was a succession of papers including the Hope Gazette. The Gazette ran alone from 1884 to 1916, and as the weekly companion of the daily Arkansas Evening Herald from 1916 until both daily and weekly suspended in 1922 — a total publication record for the Gazette of 38 years. Oddly enough, the late Claude McCorkle had a prominent part in this earlier Hope Gazette before founding the Star of Hope.

By January 18, 1929, there was the evening daily Star of Hope, then owned by Ed McCorkle; and the morning Hope Press, owned by D. A. Goan and succeeding the Gazette-Herald line of publications. Therefore the consolidation of the local dailies on that date in 1929 by the late C. E. Palmer and A. H. Washburn as the present Hope Star combined the two major lines of newspapers in this city.

Separated Twins Still Critical

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Jeanett Stubblefield today is breathing more easily than at any time since she was separated from her Siamese twin sister a week ago Tuesday.

While both still remain on the critical list, they are beginning to eat well.

Donett is up to 4½ ounces of formula every three hours. Jeanett's diet Tuesday was jumped from 2 to 4 ounces every three hours.

The girls were born June 29 at Nyssa, Ore.

15-Year-Old Girl Poisons Her Parents

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—The parents of a 15-year-old girl died of poison early today, and police said the girl admitted giving them the death-dealing potion under the pretense it was a "thrill powder" that would give them a "boost."

Sheriff Lynn Thomas quoted the girl, Diane Roberts, as saying her motive was to kill her father because he had threatened to kill her.

William Roberts, 43, the father; and his wife, Evelyn, 42, died in a Kansas City, Mo. hospital about four hours after they became violently ill at their home in Prairie Village, a Kansas City suburb.

Diane was an only child.

No charges were filed immediately.

Sheriff Thomas said the girl told this story:

She bought some roach powder at a drugstore Monday. Tuesday night she mixed the powder in drinking glasses with grape juice, water, flour and sugar.

"I told them it was a thrill powder that would give them a big boost."

"They drank some and started laughing real hard. Then she and Dad said 'It is terrible,' and they both got real sick and vomited all over."

"Daddy stood at the bottom of the stairs and screamed — 'God help me, God help me, please take care of me,' then he laid down on the floor."

She said she then called relatives who in turn called a physician.

"I did it because Mom and Dad were always criticizing everything I did, the way I walked, the way I ate, the people I went with," she told Sheriff Thomas.

Explorer VII Sending Back Weather Data

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—America's new Explorer VII satellite is spinning about the earth every hour and 41 seconds gathering data about space radiation and the weather.

A four - state Jupiter II Rocket lifted the gyroscopic satellite into orbit Tuesday and it immediately began transmitting valuable information.

Space scientists were pleased with the orbit attained—when takes the Explorer VII 664 miles from earth at its farthest point and as close as 346 miles at its nearest point.

Dr. Homer Newell Jr. of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported this orbit is more nearly circular than hoped for and said it would be an advantage because of the nature of some of the seven experiments carried in the instrument package.

For one thing, he noted, gauges designed to measure cosmic rays will not be unduly flooded by high altitude radiation.

Newell announced one of the two satellite radio transmitters was weaker than hoped for and that it probably will die in about two months. The transmitter is designed for precision tracking of the satellite. Newell said, however, that when the radio stops, the satellite can be tracked by telescopic means.

Explorer VII is expected to stay aloft for 20 years, but it will relay information for only one year.

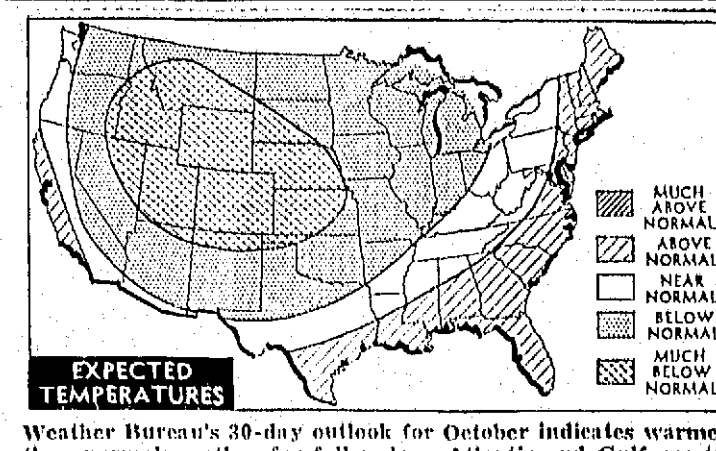

After that period, an automatic device will shut off the second transmitter. This is to prevent the radio signals from cluttering up satellite broadcasting wavelengths.

The main mission of the new satellite was to study the lower levels of bands of radiation hovering above the earth. This data may help ease man's way to the moon.

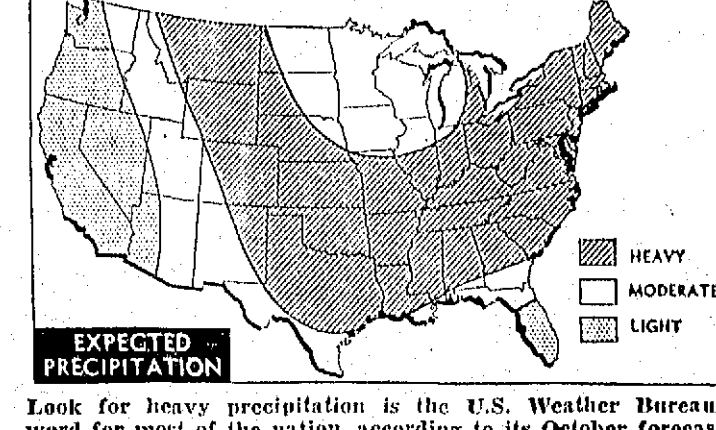

Other instruments measure cosmic rays in and below the belt; ultra-violet radiation; and the heat balance between the earth and the sun. Meteorologists believe the latter is responsible for most of our weather.

The Juno II was one of three rockets launched here Tuesday.

Earlier, a B47 jet bomber fired a 37-foot Bold Orion missile across the path of the Explorer VI "Fadpole Whiff" satellite. The missile may be the forerunner of a weapon designed to knock down enemy satellites.

Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for October indicates warmer than normal weather for folks along Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Look for heavy precipitation in the U.S. Weather Bureau's word for most of the nation, according to its October forecast.

International Police Force Study Asked

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States called today for a U. N. study on a system of international and domestic police forces to preserve peace in the event of total world disarmament.

The new survey was proposed by U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge as a parallel to discussions of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's total disarmament plan laid before the U. N. General Assembly Sept. 18.

Lodge told the Assembly's 22-nation Political Committee the United States would join other members of the new 10-nation disarmament group in Geneva early next year in giving to the Soviet proposals the most serious scrutiny.

He said, however, that the United States still does not know what kind of inspection and controls the Soviet Union will accept and this is a key to whether the Soviet plan is acceptable.

"There cannot be 100 per cent disarmament with only 10 per cent inspection," Lodge declared.

He urged the Soviet Union to elaborate a detailed control plan before the Geneva disarmament talks begin if it wants the Khrushchev plan to get serious consideration.

20-30 Injured When Three Buses Collide

BOSTON (AP)—Three buses among 20 carrying delegates to the American Assn. of State Highway Officials Convention crashed today on the Mystic River bridge. Twelve persons were injured.

At the Massachusetts General Hospital to which most of the injured were removed in police ambulances, none was reported seriously hurt. They suffered cuts and bruises.

The buses were proceeding in two police escorted convoys on the 130-foot high upper level when the fifth bus in one of the convoys stopped suddenly. The sixth also stopped, but the seventh crashed into it and drove it against the fifth. All the injured were in those two buses.

The accident occurred as the convoy approached the end of the big toll bridge which terminates in suburban Chelsea.

BOSTON (AP)—Three buses in a convoy carrying tourists were involved in an accident-like collision on the lofty Mystic River bridge today.

First reports said between 20 and 30 persons were shaken. Police at Chelsea, a suburb, said there were no stretcher cases.

The buses were said to be carrying delegates from many states who are in Boston this week for a convention of the Assn. of State Highway Officials.

About 20 persons were sent to hospitals.

Police said a line of buses had stopped on the bridge to wait for a straggling vehicle in the convoy. As the last bus caught up, it struck the rear of the rear waiting bus. The impact forced the struck bus into the rear of another vehicle.

History of Bible Traced to Kiwanians

The Bible, printed in more than one thousand languages and having the greatest circulation of any book on earth, was the subject of the Rev. Bill Moore's address before the Hope Kiwanis Club Tuesday in observance of Bible Week.

He traced the origin of the good book, told of its first printing, its many translations, what many notable persons had said about the Bible, but above all the Rev. Moore pointed out, "The Bible is true, reliable and trustworthy."

Frank Meyers was a guest of the club.

Factfinders Ask More Time for Steel Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's inquiry board today asked an extension from Friday to Monday of the time for filing its report on the issues in the 92-day steel strike.

George W. Taylor, panel chairman, made the announcement as the three-man group wound up for the day its hearing of industry's side of the case. The industry is to resume its presentation Thursday.

Taylor said the panel needs the extra time to assemble the voluminous testimony and exhibits and to prepare a report for Eisenhower.

Once the President receives the report he can order the Justice Department to seek a court injunction to halt the strike for 80 days.

As the panel continued its hearings, David J. McDonald, the union's president, made public a letter to all his 3,000 local unions saying that "without a decent contract, we will not return to work after the injunction ends."

This spilled out a union pledge to resume the strike — against which the government would have no further recourse — some time in January.

McDonald's letter also instructed 500,000 strikers "not to return to work until ordered" to do so.

Taylor told newsmen he expects the industry to complete presenting its side of the dispute Thursday.

Taylor said he expected to bring industry and union representatives together in a joint meeting here Sunday prior to completion of the report for Eisenhower.

The industry's chief negotiator said in presenting his position to the panel today that the union offered the country only two alternatives—"another inflationary increase in steel, or go without steel."

R. Conrad Cooper, who has headed the industry's negotiating team throughout the 92-day strike, defined this as the union's position in a statement prepared for a White House fact-finding board.

"Plain hogwash" is what Cooper called the union's contention that the real issue in the strike is the companies' desire to break the union.

Cooper's statement pounded again and again at what the industry calls the danger of inflation if a large wage increase is granted.

It was the industry's "day in court" before the inquiry board, which has heard the union present its side for the past day and a half. The board must report the facts of the strike to President Eisenhower by Friday. The President then decides whether to ask for a Taft-Hartley Act injunction, which would halt the strike for an 80-day cooling off period.

"There are two basic and clear-cut issues in this dispute," Cooper said.

First, whether the companies should submit to the union's rule-or-union demands for another inflationary increase in wages and benefits in the face of the intense and steadily increasing competition which confronts our industry both at home and abroad.

"Second, whether the new agreements will permit reasonable latitude in the management of the business, in the interest of improved efficiency and economy of operations."

Union President David J. McDonald completed the union's arguments before the board Tuesday night. The union claims the company's cry of inflation is phony. McDonald also said the companies would get their way in changing local working conditions only "over our dead bodies."

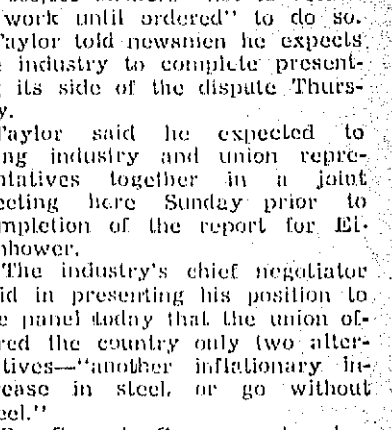

Cooper said in his statement the companies "are not trying to undermine or destroy the union. They do not seek to take away the basic rights of any employee. They are not asking for the arbitrary right to charge local work practices without employee recourse to grievance procedure and arbitration."

Cooper's statement seemed to place even farther from likelihood any negotiated settlement, which would make the Taft-Hartley 80-day injunction unnecessary.

Referring to recent last-ditch negotiations, Cooper said "I can not truthfully report to this board that the union made any discernible move toward a settlement."

LITTLE LIZ

The recipe for success is just about the same as the one for a nervous breakdown.

Factfinders Ask

The factfinders board has been sharply critical of both sides in the dispute. George W. Taylor, the panel's chairman, expressed hope the industry would tell its side in the same time it took the union.

Nobody feels an injunction would lead to a settlement. But it at least would get steel mills fired up again to relieve the developing steel shortage. There are 500,000 strikers and at least 225,000 others made idle due to the strike.

The union has said it will seek to block the issuance of any court injunction to stop the strike.

There is plenty of steel, with nearly 15 per cent of the industry not affected by the strike, plus some imports. It takes care of essential needs and prevents harm to the nation's health and safety.

Taylor said the inquiry board will continue trying for a settlement but it would take "a miracle of the first order" if one is reached this week.

'The Big Top'... Still Lives... Circus Coming Sat. Oct. 24th

Positive proof that the "under canvas circus is still very much a part of the American way of life" will be furnished tonight at 8 o'clock on Saturday, Oct. 24th, afternoon and evening, when the nation's largest circus, the Blevins Road grounds.

Contrary to the recent erroneous rumors that the American public has considered the "Big Top Circus" as "passé", the administrative staff of America's largest circus reveal that during the previous year's tour, overwhelming success was registered at a majority of the 225 communities visited on their entire itinerary, circus under the "Big Top".

A standing invitation is extended to the "children of all ages" to visit the showgrounds and witness the unloading, feeding, and watering the many animals, also the bewildering precision-timed erection of the "canvas city".

For the past quarter of a century this huge institution has found favor with both press and public alike over the entire North American continent including the U. S., Canada and Old Mexico. Undoubtedly this will mark the first appearance of a big circus here in many years.

house, across the street from Atkinson's home.

The husky actor and his wife went to an emergency evacuation center, set up by the Red Cross at Flintridge Preparatory School.

About 170 to 200 residents were evacuated but most of them returned by darkbreak as the threat to La Canada eased.

Associated Press reporter Howard C. Kohn watched the fire from a command post about 1,000 feet from the flames and reported:

"Flames were leaping into the air, 30 to 50 feet high. I saw a wall of flames coming down a ridge toward town, then flames on succeeding ridges.

"The fire looked strangely beautiful in the nighttime air lighting up the sky as though it were daylight."

The fire started Tuesday in dense brush alongside Angeles Crest Highway, which winds through scenic Angeles National Forest and then down to the desert.

Crop Harvesting Slowed by Rains

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The federal-state Crop Reporting Service said today that fall crop harvesting was slowed by wet weather early last week but the situation improved a few days later.

Substantial amounts of cotton, rice and soybeans were harvested before the week ended, the report said.

A large amount of soybeans and some cotton, corn, sorghums, alfalfa and other crops were lost when the rain-soaked Arkansas River flooded thousands of acres of farm land between Fort Smith and Little Rock.

The report said more than half of the cotton crop has been picked in a number of counties and from one-third to one-half in most others.

Rice harvesting is 90 per cent finished in a few counties and half or more completed in most others, the report said. Wet fields limited the soybean harvest.

Policeman Wins Turkey Call Meet

YELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Bob Whitener, a retired Little Rock policeman, won the 1959 annual Wild Turkey Calling contest here Saturday night.

J. V. Waters of Yellville was second and Luther Cavness, Yellville postmaster, was third.

Four firefighters have been injured, one critically.

Forest Service crewman Patrick Bridge, 25, was struck in the stomach by the butt of a tree he felled.

Court Refusal Seen in State as Good News

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorney Herschel H. Friday Jr. today termed "good news" the refusal of the U. S. Supreme Court to review two North Carolina integration cases.

The lower court decisions said that Negroes seeking admission to North Carolina white schools must use state administrative remedies before asking help of federal court.

Friday is an attorney for the Dollarway School Board which recently won a reversal in the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis of a district federal court order for immediate admission of three Negroes to the all-white Dollarway School near Pine Bluff.

The appeals court said the Negroes had not exhausted administrative remedies under Arkansas' pupil placement laws.

Friday said the decisions of the 8th Circuit of Appeals at Richmond in the North Carolina cases were cited by the 8th Appeals court as precedents in its Dollarway ruling.

Pioneer Doctor Dies in N. Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. James Oliver Cotton, 66, of North Little Rock, member of a pioneer Searcy County family, died today in a hospital here.

Dr. Cotton practiced medicine in Leslie, where his grandfather, settled in 1843, about 60 years before retiring and moving to North Little Rock.

Survivors include his widow, a son and a daughter.

Files $700,000 Suit Against Government

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Shirley N. Gilbert today filed a $700,000 damage suit against the federal government alleging that negligence by a government employee contributed to a plane crash which killed her husband and three others in July, 1958.

Mrs. Gilbert's suit was the second large damage action against the government in connection with the crash which killed Harold K. Gilbert, James McClellan, William D. Hill and Jesse Ralph Williams.

Mrs. Williams filed a $638,000 suit last week.

Each action alleged Hill, a Civil Aeronautics Administration agent, was negligent in the manner in which he conducted a flying test for McClellan, son of Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.).

McClellan, a student pilot, apparently was at the controls when the plane stalled and crashed near Mayflower.

Two to Trial for Intent to Rape

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Two white men go on trial today on charges of assault with intent to rape Negro girls.

Roy Reynolds, 22, is accused of assaulting a 16-year-old girl last July.

Jimmy Donald Casey, 23, is charged with attacking a 16-year-old girl in May, after he allegedly pretended to hire her for a baby sitting job.

Youth 10, Shot to Death by Brother

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Ten-year-old Guy McTigue of nearby Cushman was accidentally shot to death by his younger brother last night at their home near here.

Their father, Roy McTigue, said the younger lad, Stanley, 4, and Guy apparently were playing with a shotgun in a back room. Guy was shot in the chest and died instantly.

No inquest was held.

Judge Asked to Deny Injunction

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U. S. District Judge J. Smith Henley has been asked to deny a request for a temporary injunction against Central Transformer Corp. of Pine Bluff.

The injunction was sought last April 16 by McGraw-Edison Co. of Pittsburgh, which charged that Central official George A. Smith, visited its plant seeking to hire skilled transformer design engineers.

Henley issued a temporary injunction which expired April 26 and then referred the case to Special Master Robert S. Lindsey.

Lindsey yesterday asked that the McGraw-Hill petition be denied. He said Central did solicit for engineers in the Pittsburgh area but there was no evidence of any wrongdoing.

The two firms also are engaged in a patent infringement suit filed by McGraw-Edison in federal court here.

The suit was filed against Watercade, a restaurant and show held $1,502.65 from the receipts.

Attorney Robert O. Ladden, director of the Watercade, said a check for $1,502.65 was held in payment of suit said.

A striking profile for the 1960 Lincoln is the result of a completely redesigned roof which gives the car a more formal look. The different shaped rear window has 177 additional square inches of glass area for improved rearward visibility. Inside, the instrument panel has been completely restyled to give the car a precision look. A smoother ride and greater handling ease are the result of a new Hotchkiss rear suspension with leaf springs. In addition to the Lincoln four-door landau (shown above) there is a two-door hardtop and a four-door sedan in the Lincoln and Premiere series.

DOROTHY DIX

The Lady Makes Unwelcome Advances

By DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a heck of a problem that actually threatens the peace of my home. A married woman claims she's in love with me. I can honestly say I have never given her encouragement. She's married to a wonderful guy, but claims he doesn't understand her. If my wife ever heard about this I'd have some job convincing her that it's a one-sided infatuation. — Perry

Dear Perry: Bent everyone else to it, and tell your wife the crazy story. Make a joke out of it, and ask her for suggestions on how to get rid of the vampire.

Dear Dorothy Dix: The boy I like at school has a bad reputation concerning girls. They say he only dates girls who will give in to him. He's asked me to a dance and my friends say I accept I'm asking for trouble. — Renee

Dear Renee: Asking? You're sending trouble a special engraved invitation if you date the boy. Don't be a silly girl who's taken in by a smooth line.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Is there a cure for jealousy? I'm engaged to the most jealous man I ever heard of. He's so jealous of my best friend I can't see her any more. If I like a singer or actor, and mention his name, my fiancé gets boiling mad. I think he'd even like to keep me away from my parents. — Cindy

Dear Cindy: Your fiancé is crazy-jealous but if you marry him you're just plain crazy. You want to live a normal life with friends and family, but you'll never do it with this loon. Return his ring and get back your freedom.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My boy friend is crazy about roses and since his birthday is next week, I wonder if it would be proper for me to send him a dozen. I've known him for three months but we haven't exchanged any presents yet. — Olga

Dear Olga: Drop the elaborate gesture and send him a birthday card with a picture of roses. If you're a bit artistic and original, make your own with magazine illustrations of his favorite posy.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a tall daughter of small parents. I'm 14 and five feet, seven inches tall. When I go out with my folks I get so embarrassed because people always comment on my height. I've asked my mother to wear high heels, but she doesn't like them. Someone told me that smoking stunts growth. Would you advise me to smoke or is there any other way of getting smaller?

— Elma
Dear Elma: Don't be embarrassed by people's comments, learn how to carry them. When they remark on your height, answer, with a smile, "Now, my parents have to look up to me," or something along that line. Don't just blush. You have something to be proud of: tall girls are the glamor type today. Wear your height easily, proudly, and don't even attempt to stop it. There's absolutely nothing that will make you shorter, so make the best of what you have; that best is very good.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

Mercury for 1960 is both distinctive and functionally clean in design. The car's soft, smooth ride is the result of the blending of body, frame, suspension, engine and transmission into a completely road-tuned car. Two-barrel carburetors increase economy of the low-friction V-8 engines. Two of the engines offer added economy by using regular gasoline. Mercury's spacious interiors with lowered transmission and driveshaft tunnel afford comfort for six passengers. Thirteen models in four series, all on 126-inch wheelbase, are available. Pictured is the Montclair four-door cruiser (hardtop).

NAACP Fine Illegal Says High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to review a decision that compulsory union membership is unconstitutional if dues money is used for political purposes without the consent of union members.

The decision was given by the Georgia Supreme Court in a suit by six employees of the Southern Railway System.

It was appealed to the highest tribunal by 15 unions, among them railroad brotherhoods at whose insistence union shop contracts have been signed by many railways.

Under union shop contracts, employees are required to join unions within a specified time. In the Georgia case this was 60 days.

The six Southern Railway System employees said they did not want to join unions and should not be forced to pay dues when part of the money was used to support political candidates and doctrines they opposed.

The six Southern Railway System employees said they did not want to join unions and should not be forced to pay dues when part of the money was used to support political candidates and doctrines they opposed.

The decision was given by the Georgia Supreme Court in a suit by six employees of the Southern Railway System.

It was appealed to the highest tribunal by 15 unions, among them railroad brotherhoods at whose insistence union shop contracts have been signed by many railways.

Under union shop contracts, employees are required to join unions within a specified time. In the Georgia case this was 60 days.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus has proclaimed the week of Oct. 13-21 as "Newspaper Week." He praised the role of an uncensored press in a free world.

The privilege of having a free and responsible press serving the public deserves sincere appreciation by all, the governor said in his proclamation. He urged citizens to recognize the value of this. The governor's office released the proclamation. He is attending the Southern Governors' Conference in Asheville, N.C.

Polio Outbreak Has Lessened

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An alarming outbreak of polio in Arkansas during 1959 has lessened, the state Health Department says. Twenty-one cases were reported last week, but only three actually originated there, Dr. A.M. Washburn said. The others, Washburn said, occurred in previous weeks but were not reported.

Polio cases so far total 270, compared to 18 at the same time in 1958. Nine deaths have resulted from the disease, and there were none last year.

ANNOUNCING: THE 1960 MERCURY

WITH IMPORTANT PRICE REDUCTIONS

Prices importantly reduced on all Mercury models! Popular Monterey* now $136⁰⁰ lower. Now you can own a new Mercury for a very few cents a day more than a car with a low-price name.

* Comparison based on manufacturer's suggested delivered price for a Monterey 2-door sedan, 1960 v. 1959. Includes Federal excise tax and suggested dealer preparation and handling charges.

You'll be glad you bought a Mercury every time... Why pay a medium-range price for a car with a low-price name? For this year, Mercury is in a new lower-price range. You'll be glad you didn't settle for less...

... every time you look at its Sleek-Line styling.

Every line is clean, trim. All excess metal has been pared away, shaped smooth. There's no unnecessary bulk. Just elegant simplicity.

... every time you feel its exclusive Road-Tuned ride.

Mercury's Road-Tuned wheels (see left) take bumps out of bumps. This ability of each wheel to "roll with the punch" is one of the most important ride advances in years... another reason why you'll be glad you bought Mercury...

... every time someone sits in the middle. There's real comfort for 6 people, not just 4. Full head room, hip room, foot room for all.

... every time you see other new cars. You'll discover that Mercury has the freshest styling—no warmed-over '59 design as in many so-called 1960 cars. You'll find that Mercury has the newest features—de luxe interiors on even the lowest-priced model, at no extra cost. And you'll appreciate the extra quality—the kind that cuts repair bills. For Mercury is the best-built car in America today. Don't miss the first showing.

No More Tickets to Hog-Steer Game Saturday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks are sitting on top of the Southwest Conference in more ways than one as they prepare for the game with Texas Saturday night. And Coach Frank Broyles says in some respects that is a handicap.

Besides leading the league with a 2-0 S.W.C. record, the Razorbacks are feeling the effects of being the furthest team north. They've had to practice in rain and mud for the past two weeks and now cold has been added to the Ozark Mountain sublim.

The Razorbacks moved up to the freshman practice field on higher ground—yesterday as the Razorbacks went into rough contact work against Texas' offense and defense. But still it was muddy. And wet. And cold.

"If the rain would just let up we could get in a couple of good days of practice," Broyles said. "We need that more than anything."

The rest of the Texas teams are not suffering such severe weather conditions. The playing field was dry and the weather was dry and muggy last Saturday night when the Razorbacks whipped Baylor 27-7 for their second S.W.C. victory.

University of Arkansas officials said yesterday that all tickets to Saturday night's Texas-Arkansas game at War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock have been sold out. Only a few end zone tickets were left in Little Rock.

And still the calls for tickets poured in. A capacity crowd of over 40,000 is assured.

Broyles worked the Hogs long and hard yesterday on Texas' offense, which is much like the Arkansas belly-wing but has perhaps more variations. Texas' wide plays and passing attack drew the most attention.

Barry Switzer, the second team center, and James Monroe, the first unit quarterback, were expected to be ready in Texas. Monroe has been recovering from shoulder and hip injuries and played only about half the Baylor game.

Switzer didn't make the trip to Texas and is recovering from the effects of blood poisoning.

The Razorbacks expected more hard contact work today.

Cloud Hangs Over Return Title Match

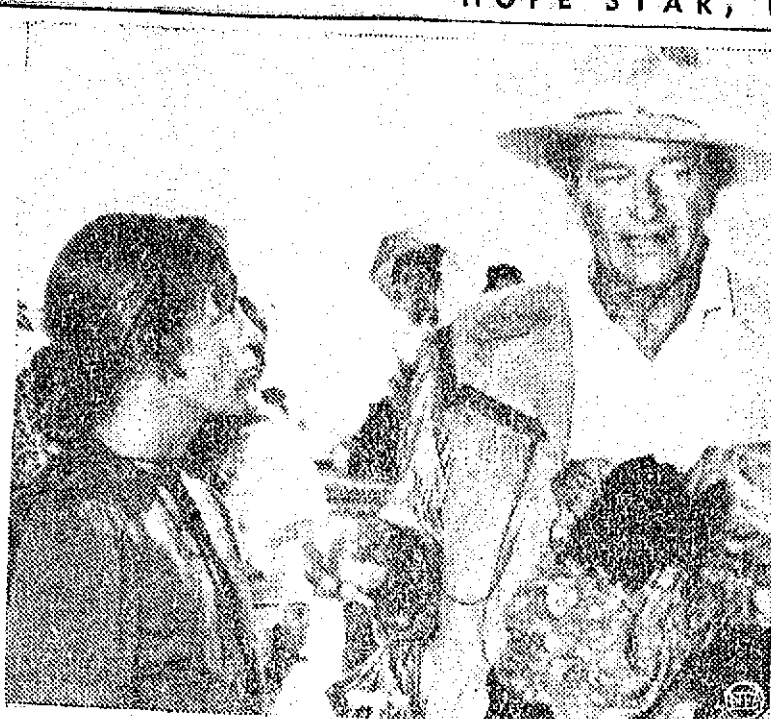

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A heavy cloud today hung over the proposed return world heavyweight championship bout between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson in the wake of findings by the New York State Athletic Commission.

After hearing 500 pages of testimony on the manipulations of the promotion of the first fight last June 26, the commission Tuesday: 1. Directed Cas D'Amato, Patterson's manager and Bill Rosenzohn, promoter of the bout along with his former organization, Rosenzohn Enterprises, to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked.

2. Banned Charles Antonucci (Charles Black) from promoting or even attending a fight in New York state.

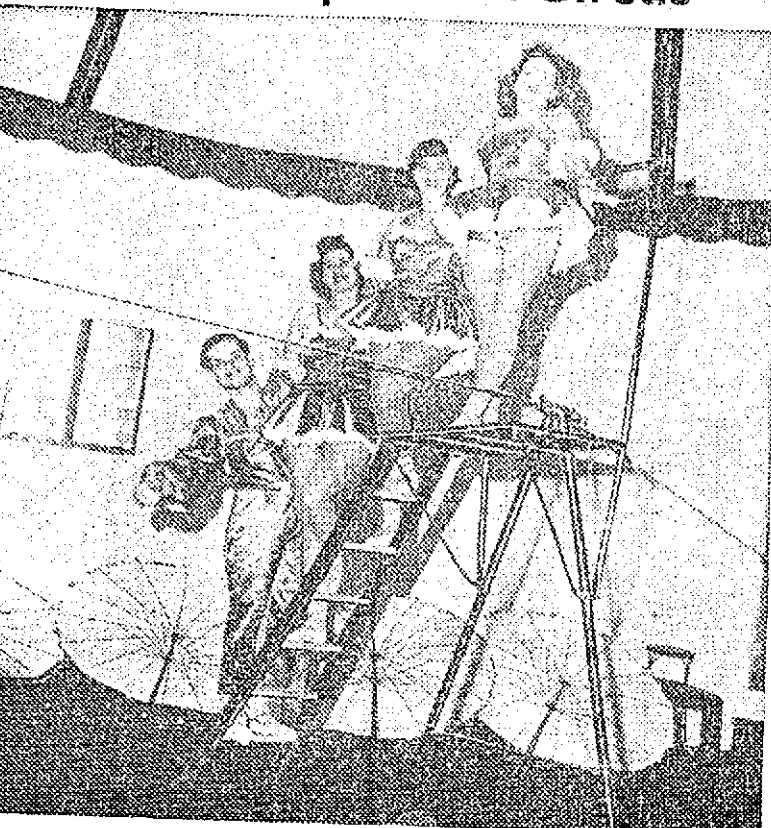

3. Recommended that the state legislature enact a law requiring the licensing of the company or individual who controls the television, radio and movie rights to fights.

NEW YORK (AP)—Football coaches get hung in effigy when their best calculations prove wrong, but football forecasters just take on another list of games. Here's the newest batch of picks with the winning 14 of 30 selections were wrong last week and for a .550 average.

Louisiana State over Kentucky: The Wildcats have fallen on lean days while LSU has won 10 in a row and should make it 17 with ease.

Northwestern over Michigan: Perhaps by as much as two touchdowns.

Texas over Arkansas: Texas speed to prevail over Arkansas slubbers.

Auburn over Georgia Tech: The Plainsmen will try to make every yard they lost their opener in Tennessee by a field goal.

Mississippi over Tulane: It is the Mississippi homecoming.

Purdue over Ohio State: The Buckeyes have been shut out in their last two games. It could be three straight after this bumper.

Southern California over Washington: Two unbeaten West Coast titans. The Trojans rested last week.

Syracuse over Holy Cross: Two more unbeaten clubs. Syracuse sets revenge for one-point setback the past two seasons.

Elsewhere: Wisconsin over Iowa; Penn State over Boston University; Illinois over Minnesota; Tennessee over Alabama; Southern Methodist over Rice; Air Force over Oregon; Army over Duke.

Ft. Smith Is Best in State in Late Poll

Fort Smith's Grizzlies, after a great comeback victory over Little Rock Central last Friday, are ranked almost unanimously as the top high school team in Arkansas.

Six of the seven members of the Arkansas Sportswriters Assn. prepoll committee gave Fort Smith top billing among the state's high school eleven.

The Grizzlies upset Central 20-6 last week and atoned for a 12-0 loss to El Dorado earlier in the season. Pine Bluff, the team that upset El Dorado last week 26-7, rose to second in the poll.

Five teams in the Big Nine Conference now have lost one game. Two more have lost one and tied one. The top seven teams in the ratings are from the Big Nine.

Blytheville and Hot Springs are ranked in the second ten.

El Dorado dropped from first to third and Central dropped from second to fourth. Texarkana rose to fifth and Little Rock Hall moved up to sixth after a victory over Blytheville. North Little Rock, off last week, dropped from fourth to seventh.

Important Big Nine games Friday night include Texarkana at Little Rock Central and Hall at Pine Bluff. All of those four have lost one game each.

The upsets last week threw the league race into a scramble. Fort Smith probably received top billing because of the Central victory and the 14-12 triumph over Pine Bluff at Pine Bluff two weeks ago.

El Dorado beat Fort Smith but Pine Bluff beat El Dorado.

Little Rock Catholic, ranking eighth, was again tagged as the best Class AA team in the state. Forrester City ranked ninth and Benton was 10th.

Fordyce led the Class A clubs with an 11th place and Walnut Ridge moved into second place in the A ratings with a 14th statewide position. De Queen dropped to 13th after an upset loss to winless Magnolia last week.

Van Doren Is Eluding Probe, Harris Charges

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — Big money winner Charles Van Doren is billed for a command appearance when the congressional probe of television quiz shows resumes Nov. 2.

House investigators issued a subpoena last Friday for the youthful Columbia University English instructor. But Van Doren can't be found.

Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark), chairman of the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee, on Monday accused Van Doren of deliberately evading service of the subpoena.

Harris said Van Doren "seems to have challenged the committee and the facts which have been developed."

The investigation recessed Monday after six days of testimony about rigging of big-name television quiz contests by providing advance questions and answers to contestants.

Harris said a diligent search had been made by committee staff members and others for Van Doren, who won fame and $129,000 by knowing the right answers at the right time on the now defunct "Twenty-One" quiz show.

Van Doren became a $50,000-a-year National Broadcasting Co. employee after his fabulous winnings on the NBC program in 1956 and 1957.

The subcommittee previously had "invited" Van Doren to testify. But it received no reply to the invitation extended after he had volunteered to make himself available.

Between the time of the invitation and the subpoena, NBC suspended Van Doren from his job—larily, letting him see a considerable distance. The truck stood near the top of a mild grade, with a ravine to the left and the hills sloping up sharply to either side.

Suddenly, Victory Joe began to chatter warning. Guthrie closed his eyes and listened. A moment later he heard the faint purr of an engine. At first, he thought it was a plane but as it grew gradually louder, he recognized it for an automobile, coming toward him from the north.

He sighted his enemy immediately. A small car without headlights, grinding up the hill toward him. The grade was steeper on that side and the car—Guthrie decluding appearances on the "Today" show—pending determination of the House inquiry. Columbia University has given him a week's leave from his teaching duties.

Harris referred to what he called Van Doren's "challenging" offer of last Wednesday to testify voluntarily and of the committee's invitation to Van Doren to appear Thursday or Friday at his own convenience.

In his offer to testify, Harris said, Van Doren stated he had received no advance assistance in an form on "Twenty-One."

Van Doren's name was not officially linked to scandals in public testimony, although committee members said his name cropped up frequently in closed-door testimony by producers and others connected with the "Twenty-One" show. The nature of the closed-door testimony has not been revealed.

cided it was a jeep—was in low gear and making slow progress. But it was getting closer every minute and once it topped the ridge, he would be discovered.

Cautiously, he let the truck inch forward up the incline until it was nearly to the top, shielded from the jeep by only a last curve of ground. There Guthrie halted, straining to hear the approach of the other car until at last he couldn't tell whether the roaring in his ears was the jeep or his tortured imagination.

"Now," he screamed at the top of his lungs and pushed down on the accelerator. The truck jerked forward, gaining speed. As he topped the crest of the hill, Guthrie turned on his headlights.

The jeep was transfixed in the sudden glow of light, a scant dozen yards below him. Guthrie sent the truck hurtling down upon it like a thunderbolt. The two vehicles came together with a grinding explosion of metal against metal. The jeep slid backward, skidding sideways. It plunged down the sagebrush-mottled slopes, turned completely over once and came to rest in the shallow ravine on its back, its wheels spinning as if in its death agony.

Guthrie stared down at his enemy. In the shadowy depths, he could barely distinguish the figure of the jeep's driver, pinned under the wreckage. Guthrie couldn't tell whether or not the man still lived—it didn't matter anyway. The road was clear again. Nothing stood between Steve Guthrie and one million dollars.

Cloris stubbed out her cigarette decisively. She was tired of strolling aimlessly around the laboratory, waiting. The loneliness of the place was getting under her skin for the first time in her life. She stripped off her smock and looked up for the night. She drove her car across San Ysidro to Border Patrol sector headquarters.

The duty officer, a senior patrol inspector named Farber, had seen nothing of Mallory.

"Can you lend me a rifle?" she inquired. "I'm going to go look for him."

Farber's jaw dropped and the argument began. He didn't know what Kelo would say if he signed out a rifle to a woman from another branch of service and he wasn't going to wake him to find out. The eventual solution was that Cloris signed out an entire jeep, fully equipped. This made the armament seem purely incidental. Farber still grumbled, however; only the knowledge that his lady vet somehow figured importantly in the Blackjack operation made him stretch the regulations.

"I won't be alone," Cloris assured him.

Samson got to his feet as she approached the detention pen, regarding her warily. "Remember me?" Cloris asked as she unlocked the gate.

Samson snorted her outstretched hand, walking around her stiff-legged, as if debating whether to treat her as a friend or enemy. All at once, his stubby tail began to wag and Cloris grinned. "That's better. We've got a job to do, Samson, so we might as well be friends."

The big dog followed her to the jeep that Farber had pointed out. He vaulted onto the bucket seat and sat down on his haunches. Cloris slid in beside him and studied the sector map that was posted to the dashboard.

Her studiousness paid off. Five miles before Teacote, the map revealed another road branching off to the southeast. Cloris suspected that it might well intersect the abortive highway that Mallory had spoken of, and thus would serve as a shortcut, enabling her to catch up with him. She came at last to the intersection she sought, the spot where the rutted road crossed the roadbed of the abandoned highway. It was not immediately identifiable for what it was and Cloris might have missed it altogether if it had been for the tire prints.

Samson bunched forward. The dog was hunched forward on the seat, ears erect, nose sniffing the faint breeze. On impulse, Cloris brought the jeep to a stop. "Go find him," she commanded.

Samson leaped out of the jeep and bounded off down the road. Cloris, driving after, was hard put to keep up with the galloping dog. They came to another grade, started to climb. Midway up the slope, Samson paused. Then with a backward look at Cloris, a look that plainly said, "Come on!" he plunged off the road into the shallow ravine that bordered it.

Cloris scrambled after him. For a moment, she lost sight of the dog in the shadowy brush. Then she saw him, at the same instant she saw his destination, the jeep lying on its back at the bottom of the gorge.

Ike Gives Small Car to Visitor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has presented one of the new, small-sized American cars as a personal gift to his friend, President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico.

The dark blue Ford Falcon sedan was waiting in the driveway back of the White House Saturday when Lopez Mateos came out with Eisenhower to board a helicopter for Camp David, Md.

The car, fully equipped, retails for around 2,300. Since it was a

Flight Plan of Space Man Made Public

LANGLEY, Va. (AP) — The flight plan for the first Mercury manned satellite was made public at this space capital today.

It calls for the Mercury capsule to zoom three times around the earth at an altitude of 100 miles and land in the Atlantic off the Bahamas Islands not far from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site. The whole trip would take 4½ hours.

Hurting along at 14,000 miles an hour most of the way, the satellite would cross South Africa, Australia and a narrow southern strip of the United States.

As outlined here at the research center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and confirmed by one of the seven Mercury astronauts, the detailed flight plan is this:

1. A launching slightly north of east from Cape Canaveral.
2. An initial orbit — First encirclement of the earth — that the Canary Islands, Spanish West Africa and Algeria, the main part of Africa just north of Lake Chad and Lake Victoria, Kenya, Australia south of Perth in the west and south of Brisbane in the east, Fiji Islands, Samoa, southern tip of Baja California, Northern Mexico, Texas south of Austin and north of Houston, north of New Orleans and leaving the U.S. East Coast south of Charleston, S.C.

3. Second orbit—crossing Bermuda and swinging southward across Nigeria, Mozambique and Madagascar, over Perth across Mackay on the Australian east coast, south of the Solomon Islands, over Howland and Baker islands in the central Pacific, over the northern end of Baja California, just south of Tucson, Ariz., north of Carlsbad, N.M., north of Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex., and leaving the U.S. East Coast at Savannah, Ga.

4. Final orbit—across the South Atlantic south of Cape Verde Islands, over Angola, crossing just north of Johannesburg, just north of Geraffon on the Australian west coast, across the Gulf of Carpentaria and Cape York, across eastern New Guinea and the Marshall Islands, and north of
